Customer Reviews

Following a broadcasting career in California and New York, author Tony Kent retired to Fredericksburg where he and 12 others founded the Central Rappahannock Heritage Center, a regional archive for the grass roots history of the city and its four neighboring counties. Many never-before-published images in this volume are from the center's collection.

Very good. I was really looking for civil war era buildings. There was a section of those.

If you are interested in knowing how the landscape was at the time of the battle and how it has changed it is very good. Bob Macoubrie

I live in Fredericksburg and thoroughly enjoyed this book. Loaded with photos.
