God Has Big Plans For You, Esther (Discover 4 Yourself Inductive Bible Studies For Kids (Paperback))

Synopsis

Bestselling author Kay Arthur and engaging teacher and author Janna Arndt present a clever addition to their popular Discover 4 Yourself Bible study series (more than 625,000 copies sold). Readers ages 9 to 12 join young investigators Max, Molly, and Sam for a great adventure in Washington D.C. While they explore the exciting dynamics of the Capitol, they uncover an amazing bible story of a young girl named Esther who God used to change the course of her nation. An unforgettable, informative tale unfolds and shows kids that no matter how young they are or how challenging their circumstances—God is in control of everything. They can overcome trials with God's strength. Everybody is given gifts to use for Him and His plan. Children will be introduced to the inductive method of studying God's Word for themselves as they witness His personal message, His purpose, and His promises unfold in their daily lives.

Customer Reviews

“The variety of activities and story format make these studies more interesting than many other Bible study resources or curricula for children, and these studies are a great way to teach students how to really study the Bible.”

“There are several things about this series of studies for children that my husband and I love. First, it teaches children at early ages how to study the Bible inductively and gives them those early foundational skills that they can carry with them for years. Second, these studies take them beyond just reading the Bible. They learn origins, definitions, time lines, history, etc. about the particular book, region, people, etc. that they are reading about giving them a broader knowledge of the text they are reading. Third, it is fun because of the modern day short stories and the activities found throughout the book. "We will continue to use this book series with our children in homeschooling as they grow. We highly recommend this series of books to anyone who has children because it is a great building block to a lifetime of inductive Bible study." Gretta Johns, GrettaJohns.blogspot.com

Kay Arthur is a four-time Gold Medallion award-winning author, member of NRB Hall of Fame, and beloved international Bible teacher. She and her husband, Jack, cofounded Precept Ministries International to teach people how to discover truth through inductive study. Precept provides teaching and training through study books, TV and radio programs, the Internet, and conferences in over 180 countries and 70 languages. Janna Arndt, coauthor of the Discover 4 Yourself® series, is a Precept trainer who conducts workshops to help people use the interactive Discover 4 Yourself® Bible Studies in Sunday schools, homeschool environments, and Christian schools. Janna's heart is for children to know and love God's Word.

I bought this for my two 12 year old granddaughters so they could study the Bible for themselves. One of them had completed another of these studies when she was 8 or 9 so I thought this would be a good fit for them. They have been doing the studies and loving them. I'll see for myself when I fly to their house for a 3 week visit soon. They have been asking for a study for a while so it took me a while to look on .

This has been an excellent daily devotional for our kids, ages 10 and 12.

These books are geared for middle school. The authors keep the students' interest while teaching them an important method of studying God's Word for themselves.

This is a great study for kids, but at least 3rd grade.

Very good.

Not recommended for Torah loving folks. It unnecessarily mentions NT prophets, when Queen Esther's story has nothing to do with them. Plus if you want to learn about the stories of the lives of righteous individuals in the Bible, why not just learn about them right out? Their stories are quite exciting enough without needing the distractions of the little kid characters, etc.

By Kay Arthur and Janna Arndt (Harvest House Publishers, 2011) Reaping with Bible verse readings and activities based on the Bible story of Esther, this book is a fun, interactive Bible study for children. Scattered with enticing black and white cartoon drawings, children will look forward to reading and completing the activities within this book. This Bible study book is organized into five weeks, with five days of readings and activities. Children will also learn some information about Washington, D.C., as the main characters of the book venture through this historic city, as they gain knowledge about the Bible story of Esther. Some of the entertaining activities contained in this book are crossword puzzles, fill in the blank, questions to answers, circle the correct answer, draw a picture, and more. Children are encouraged to have a Bible, writing instrument, colored pencils, a dictionary, and index cards nearby to assist them as they journey through this book. The answers to the activities are located in the back of the book. The front cover of this book is inspiring and enjoyable to look at; children will be excited to open this book and start learning upon first glance at the front cover. This book would make an excellent selection for a classroom, group, or individual study environment. Disclosure of Material Connection: I received this book free from the publisher through the Harvest House Publishers book review bloggers program. I was not required to write a positive review. There are several things about this series of studies for children that my husband and I love. First and foremost, it teaches children at early ages how to study the Bible inductively and gives them those early foundational skills to coding, marking and studying the Bible word by word. This is a skill that they can carry with them for years and will certainly come in handy as they mature and complete further Precept Inductive Bible studies. Second, these studies take them beyond just "reading" the Bible. They learn origins, definitions, time lines, history, etc. about the particular book, region, people, etc. that they are reading about giving them a broader knowledge of the text they are reading. Third, it is fun because of the modern day short stories (Molly, Sam & Uncle Matt) and the fill in the blank activities, word searches, draw a picture and puzzles found throughout the book.
