A Many Colored Kingdom: Multicultural Dynamics For Spiritual Formation

Synopsis

How do ethnic and cultural diversity affect spiritual formation? The authors of A Many Colored Kingdom explore Christian formation and teaching in the church, with a particular focus on intercultural and interethnic relationships. Well-qualified to speak on issues of diversity, the authors describe relevant aspects of their own personal journeys; key issues emerging from their studies and teaching germane to race, culture, and ethnicity; and teaching implications that bring right practice to bear on church ministry. A final chapter contains a conversation among the authors responding to one another's insights and concerns. This book will be required reading for those engaged in as well as those preparing for a life of teaching and ministry in our increasingly multicultural world.

Elizabeth Conde-Frazier (Ph.D., Boston College), a Puerto Rican married to an African-American, is assistant professor of religious education at Claremont School of Theology. S. Steve Kang (Ph.D., Northwestern University), a 1.5 generation Korean-American, is coordinator for interdisciplinary studies and assistant professor of Christian formation and ministry at Wheaton College. Gary A. Parrett (Ed.D., Columbia University), a Caucasian married to a Korean-American, has pastored several Korean-American churches. He is professor of educational ministries and worship at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

It is easy to understand. It explains how we can be kingdom builders right here in our own community. It is very interesting the history of how we all got here, every race and nation. The main points for me are from Gal 3:28 God has declared that, in Christ, there is no longer Jew nor Greek, slave nor free, male nor female. Like Paul, we are to bear the message of reconciliation as ambassadors of Christ. I loved it!

Perfect!

Great book, especially Parret's section

Great book that looks into a lot of interesting topics. Definitely more of a scholarly book than a normal reader.

"A Many Colored Kingdom" provides ground breaking insight into the theology and methodology of spiritual formation from and in a multicultural perspective. The co-authors themselves live and breathe what they write, researching and writing with passion and precision. This book richly celebrates the diverse contributions to Christian spirituality necessary to fully engage and embrace the infinite, multifaceted beauty and glory of Christ. Reviewer: Bob Kelleman, Ph.D., is the author of Beyond the Suffering: Embracing the Legacy of African American Soul Care and Spiritual Direction, A Soul Physicians: A Theology of Soul Care And Spiritual Direction, and A Spiritual Friends: A Methodology of Soul Care And Spiritual Direction.
