Award-winning author Eileen Ogintz is a leading national family travel expert whose syndicated column Taking the Kids is the most widely distributed column in the country on family travel. She has also created TakingtheKids.com which helps families to make the most of their vacations together. Ogintz is the author of seven family travel books and is often quoted in major publications such as USA Today, the Wall Street Journal, the New York Times as well as parenting and women's magazines on family travel. She has appeared on such television programs as "The Today Show," "Good Morning America" and "Oprah," as well as dozens of local radio and television news programs. She has traveled around the world with her three children and others in the family, talking to other traveling families wherever she goes.

Clever and well written, I bought this for my 8 year old for a recent trip to Washington. She not only really liked the book, it gave her the ability to see what she was interested in, allowed her to develop questions for the guides and park people at the respective locations, and helped a lot on the long car ride. Couldn't have been happier with this purchase.

This book was not exactly what I was looking for, but my grandson seems to enjoy it.

Boring! Kids are accustomed to colorful realistic online pictures. Would not recommend.
