Electric Boat Corporation

Synopsis

Electric Boat Corporation has been a world leader in submarine development, design, and construction for more than a century. In 1900, the company delivered the Holland, the first submarine accepted by the United States Navy. Fifty-five years later, it turned fantasy into fact by sending the world's first nuclear-powered ship, the submarine Nautilus, off on its maiden voyage. It later built the world's first ballisticmissile-firing submarine, the George Washington, and most of the nation's current underseas fleet. Between those years, it pioneered standardized construction of merchant ships, submarine chasers, torpedo boats, and yachts and also produced airplanes, fishing trawlers, diesel engines, and electric motors. This collection of more than 200 archival photographs traces the company's sometimes roller-coaster existence through 10 historic decades when America and Electric Boat Corporation "grew into an industrial giant. It is an engaging collective portrait of American ingenuity, know-how, and persistence driving technology to new heights.

Customer Reviews

Excellent book even in condensed form. Recommended reading for submariners especially.

The subject has special meaning for me. I lived in New London many years-attended a launching and watched some from across the Thames and had summer employment at the submarine base--all early WWII. All that I've explored thus far strikes me as genuine and well presented--an history piece. Visit the submarine base--see the Nautilus

This is an excellent book if you are interested in submarine or nautical history. It is a must have if you are from the Southeastern CT / Southern RI area.
