Customer Reviews

"Chi is utter endearing. This omnibus edition is fantastic and I love it as a complement to the smaller volumes that provide a more Japanese experience." - Chris Beveridge, Fandom Post
"I think what drew me in was how honest and realistic this comic was. Don't expect crazy antics or story lines here. I enjoyed it for its realness and cuteness." - Book Pairings
"This is the perfect relaxing collection of comics for cat lovers." - Paper Clippers

Konami Kanata was born on July 3, 1958, in Nagano, Japan. A veteran manga artist Konami made her professional debut in 1982 with the serialized comic Petit Cat Jam-Jam for Kodansha's seminal shoujo manga magazine NakaYoshi. The daughter of an elementary school teacher, most of Konami's stories are for readers of all ages making her one of the most accessible artists in recent history. In her nearly thirty year career, Konami has penned more than a dozen comic series, with the majority of them focusing on cats and pets. Konami is well regarded within the pet-manga community for her keen sense of cat ecology. Her ability to observe and render feline behavior has earned her respect from the Japanese manga community as a whole. While most of her properties were published for a younger female demographic, her most recent series Chi's Sweet Home is currently being published by Kodansha's Morning magazine, Japan's leading comic magazine for adult readers.

A wonderful series from start to finish. It left me not only with a few laughs it left me with shock and tears of sadness as well as tears of joy. All in all just as like the title of my review says.
